E-Camp!
A three day entrepreneurial skills training for researchers

Get new perspectives for your career!
During three days you will experience the process of developing entrepreneurial ideas deriving from research and finding market opportunities for these.

Participant Feedback:
“E-Camp offered me a completely new way of thinking”… “I learned a lot about the process of getting an idea up to speed and testing it”, … “Getting out of the Lab was great”, … “Teamwork was a great experience that we do not usually have as scientists. The whole process was totally new to me.”
